Opening New Doors Through Small Business Development Training!

As we listen to the needs of pastors and ministry leaders around the world, one challenge is repeated again and again. Many faithful pastors desire to devote themselves fully to shepherding their churches, yet they must also find ways to provide for their families. In many communities, churches simply do not have the resources to financially support their pastors.

We are excited to share that AABS is launching a Small Business Development (SBD) Program to help address this need.

Through a new partnership with Global Disciples, our associated Bible schools will soon have access to an interactive Small Business Development course that can be offered alongside our Biblical training curriculum. Rather than simply teaching business principles, this course equips students to develop practical business plans that can become sustainable sources of income while strengthening their witness within their communities.

This initiative is about much more than economics. It is about empowering pastors and Christian leaders to serve faithfully without placing an overwhelming financial burden on the churches they lead. As students learn to establish small businesses, they will be better equipped to care for their families, support their ministries, create opportunities for others, and build meaningful relationships with those around them. In many places, business also becomes a bridge for sharing the Gospel and demonstrating Christ's love in everyday life.

To lead this exciting new ministry, we are pleased to welcome Nate Monyer to the AABS team as our new Business Development Director. Nate will oversee the implementation of the Small Business Development Program throughout our network of associated schools. His responsibilities include adapting the Global Disciples curriculum for use within AABS, coordinating instructor certification training, and helping schools successfully integrate the course into their existing educational programs. We are grateful that God has provided someone with a heart for discipleship, experience running a business and practical ministry to lead this important initiative.

As we look ahead, we believe this program has the potential to impact thousands of pastors and church leaders throughout our growing network. By combining sound Biblical education with practical business training, we are helping prepare leaders who can faithfully serve their churches while providing for their families and becoming effective witnesses in their communities. We give thanks to God for opening this new avenue of ministry and look forward to seeing the lives that will be transformed through it.

Launching the Small Business Development Program represents a significant step forward for AABS and has resulted in an increase in our annual ministry budget. New curriculum implementation, instructor certification, travel, and the addition of our Business Development Director all require additional resources. We are grateful for your faithful prayers and generous partnership as, together, we continue making biblical education available and affordable while equipping Christian leaders to serve both spiritually and practically for the glory of God. We appreciate the prayers, encouragement and financial partnership that you bring- it makes what we do possible! Contributions may be sent to AABS, PO Box 556, New Holland, PA 17557 or given through our website, www.friendsofaabs.com. Thank you! May God generously reward you!

All for Jesus,

Tim Ingold, Administrative Director
